

vision

Our passion is simple and our commitment is clear:
to improve the health of people and communities in developing countries.

mission

We improve health by:

- Conducting important research that influences or transforms public health policy
- Developing treatment and health management systems using this research to meet our stakeholder needs and adding value by:

- Development of high-quality, ethical, innovative and relevant research methodologies, to international standards
- Meticulous programme design, monitoring and evaluation
- Efficient and cost-effective systems implementation
- Application of sound management principles values

Integrity
Excellence
Teamwork