

Aurum's Board is independent and the directors have among them a wide range of the requisite expertise to guide and direct the organisation's governance. The Scientific Advisory Committee oversees Aurum's adherence to the highest standards of scientific endeavour and treatment.

We approach this by:

-  Treating our patients and research participants to the highest standards of care delivered by dedicated and committed medical specialists.
-  Understanding and researching the diseases and life circumstances of our patients, thus enabling us to develop appropriate health systems which may influence and transform individual care or public health policy.
-  Operating as a public benefit organisation.
